SEA FIELD

Going forward, our 4.8 acre Home Field bottling will be known as Sea Field. A more fitting name as this beautiful site is in fact an ancient sea field of diverse marine soils broken down from bedrock dating back between 66 and 200 million years. Situated less than 2 miles from the Pacific Ocean with an elevation of 1500 feet, Sea Field Vineyard produces our most elegant wines year in and year out. Rose petals, blood orange pith, crushed raspberry, wild strawberry, and wet rock bordering the forest fill the bowl. White tea, sea moss, rhubarb, savory herbs, forest berries, and floral tones linger on your palate with a long and seemingly everlasting finish.
